Ride, Peace Sign

Shine, shining, the thought in your mind As you're racing away from the light Tonight, the feeling inside Is a tension that's outside of time As you climb, the face of the rock Has a feeling that's winding you tight It's alright, your instincts are always right

Give me a peace sign Throw your hands in the air Give me a peace sign Let me know you're there

Think I'm ready, yes I'm ready,
This is the window and I'm not waiting
I'm not waiting, with no direction,
I'm all ready for satiation
No returning, no way home
And I think I might lose my phone and
In the moment, now I feel, and finally I'm real
