

Rilo Kiley, Hail To Whatever You Found In The S

Hail to those who have come from the sunlight that surrounds you
Pray for those who have gone from the sunlight that surrounds you
Pretend all the good things are for you

Hail to those who have come from the sunlight that surrounds you
Hail to whatever you've found in the sunlight that surrounds you Pretend all the good things are for you, pretend all the good things are for me
too
And the weather changes not halfway between your house and mine
Pretend all the good things are for you, pretend all the good things are for me
And the weather changes not halfway between your house and mine
And all of the good things are for me, and all of the good things are for you
too
And the weather changes not halfway between your house and mine
