

River City Rebels, 6am

the alarm goes off
it's 6 a.m.
yet another day of work begins as you get in your car you drive and wonder &"just when will it all end?&" punch in punch out
day in day out when will you face the fact that you had certain dreams not long ago but you're suddenly off track?

(Chorus)
over worked underpaid
same old shit
do you run your life or does your job run you?

your parents worked their asses off to put you in a better place but any place you're going is a dead end road filled with heartaches, headaches, backbreaking labor and a fire burning under your skin never let them take your spirit away always remember that today is your day

(Repeat chorus)
