

Roadside Monument, Eight Hours Away From Be

i've had 5,000 miles to think the walls at home don't hang keys we have vanished in the memories of words that lost their meaning in definition existence isn't always a pleasant surprise the wheels are always turning i need you not to know let me learn to hate myself in the weeks we can't live without