

Rob Thomas, Not Just A Woman

She's just a woman
Not just a woman
She's terrified
and she's unafraid
She'll change her mind with the change of the seasons
She's every reason You'll ever need.

She'll never say
what you should already know by now
Sometimes you swear she can read your mind
Sometimes she'll seem as if she's broken down Yeh, but everything that's perfect took a litte working now and then.

She's just a woman
Not just a woman
She'll break your heart and make you strong She can take you completely make you So uncertain,
so better off

She'll never say
what you should already know by now
Sometimes you swear she can read your mind
At times she'll seem as if she's broken down
And everything was working, why'd you have to let her down again?

Again...

She's just a woman
Not just a woman
She's terrified
and she's unafraid
She is an icon
She keeps her lights on She'll break your heart, shes got her ways

She's just a woman
not just a woman
She's complicated with an easy smile
She is a genius but she don't see it
She is a dream in the waking hours

She'll never say
what you should already know by now
Sometimes you swaer she can read your mind
At times she'll seem as if she's broken down
Yeh, but everything thats perfect gets a little worn down little worn down
little worn down.
