

Robben Ford, Make Me Your Only One

I'm a drifter, I walk this world alone
I'm a drifter, I walk this world alone
I lost the love of a lifetime
And found a heart of stone

Miles and miles had come between us even when we shared a bed
Miles and miles had come between us even when we shared a bed
When we were once so close together
And I remember the things she said

Refr: Make me your only one
Make me your only one
Make me your only one
Make me your only one

At first I was angry when she said that we were through
At first I was angry when she said that we were through
Now I'm just so sick down inside me
And the only cure is you

Refr: Make me your only one
Make me your only one
Make me your only one
Make me your only one
