

Robben Ford, Trying To Do The Right Thing

Your eyes look out at me and I know what they see
The man who's devoted to you, tryin' to do the right thing

Your gaze reflects my heart and that's the place we start
To be devoted to, tryin' to do the right thing

The simple things, they are the magic
In a world of constant change this we know and it's the road of devotion
That's the one less chosen, in an impulsive world
We could shine a light with our love

It's in your heart and mind and I'll return in kind
To be devoted to, tryin' to do the right thing

The simple things, they are the magic
In a world of constant change this we know and it's the road of devotion
That's the one less chosen, in an impulsive world
We could shine a light with our love

Your eyes look out at me and I know what they see
The man who's devoted to you, tryin' to do the right thing
Tryin' to do the right thing