

Robbie Williams, Berliner Star (B-Side)

Dear Eva Freedle
Got a brand new needle for you
You said weed was evil
So you're smoking in the lobby in the hotel foyer
It wasn't even noon yet
We didn't want to be too soon yet
But when the sun goes down through the after glow
The night is yours, but your mother should never know

Auf Wiedersehen Berliner star
You rock like a bastard, bastard
You should have seen her
Everything we did was wunderbar
'Till God came between us and you fell for Jesus

Eva tore my heart out
I got wasted in action (anyone)
Does she know, that I am a sucker for Instant satisfaction
There's nothing more obscene now, seen where I've been
But you learn you know, to see the after glow
You've got to burn to grow, but your Mother should never know

Auf wiedersehen Berliner star
You rock like a bastard, blaster
You should have seen her
Everything we did was wunderbar
'Till God came between us and you fell for Jesus

You were everything, everything
Everything to me
You were everything, everything
Everything to me
You were everything, everything
Everything to me
You were everything, everything
Everything to me

Auf wiedersehen Berliner star
You rock like a baster, plaster
You should have seen her
Everything we did was wunderbar
'Till God came between us and you fell for Jesus

Everything, everything
Everything to me
You were everything, everything
Everything to me

Everything we did was wunderbar
'Till God came between us and you fell for Jesus
You were everything, thing, thing
Everything to me
I still love you, I do
Everything, everything, everything now
