

Robert Downey Jr., Kimberly Glide

Vacation, holiday, strange way to save a family I sat beside this brother's pride for the last ride

Nosedive
Hellfire
My lifeline didn't survive blind rage set the stage to say I'll never love again

Kimberly glides
In the arms of cactus angels Mayan big shots float around guess this is her home now you mistook me for a man who understands things of godless, heartless, pitiful nature Hell, I just settled in for the winter four five and seventeen still the struggle with the meaning it's a straight groove I'm a man now turned out ok, perfect somehow

Its love-hate L.A. tely wanna glide but in a different way today drop to knee, pray deep, hope to meet my Kimmy decides she is down for a rare reunion she jets a path north past the pitiful port of sandy sunny San Diego

All those years out of reach there's Manhattan Beach now ahead on the right now

Salvation
Holy day
My heart skips, jumps beats
I see a face sister God gave and took away floating off my balcony in Del Ray

Good good God

Kimmy just smiles wants to stay forever I'd have her but we know that's just a word we wish we'd never heard when we're together says she must return To cactus angels
