

Robert Palmer, What Do You Care (Live)

You're such a rebel now can you remember when They used to think you knew what added up to ten You're sick and tired of taking punches to your side Now you're gonna add it up to any number that you like

(tell me) what do you care
bout what other people think
What do you care
What do you care
bout what other people think
What do you care

You thought there'd always be another shot to take You crave attention now with every move you make You like to advertise your interest in success
But you don't know on the score of who you're trying to impress

(tell me) what do you care
bout what other people think
What do you care
What do you care
bout what other people think
What do you care

Baby yeah yeah
Everybody's gonna have their say
You can't please everyone
Why delay what you say Let's decide to name the day

What do you care
bout what other people think
What do you care

What do you care
bout what other people think
What do you care

No matter what you need I'll never be your fool Do me a favour and I'll do the same for you Go ahead do what you have to do Don't worry if you should do it Tell me you love me now
Oh girl I wish you would do it

What do you care
bout what other people think
What do you care
What do you care
bout what other people think
What do you care

What do you care
bout what other people think
What do you care
What do you care
bout what other people think
What do you care

Baby, yeah yeah
What do you care
bout what other people think
What do you care

What do you care
