

Robert Pollard, Quicksilver

Looking at my window
At first I didn't like you
And now I need time
Now I know

It would change my life
Staring out my window
Coming into sight
It would change my life

And then you went away
And then you dicked my life
Staring out my window
I can't see past it
You brought me down that night