

Robert Post, Come Home

Come home
You don't need no strength
We are here
You are weak
Save your thirst
And save your hunger
For everything we have

Come home
You are misled
Don't need a reason to get through
Shouldn't have had that thirst
Just the hunger to be fed

You have fought a while
Come home now
You have fought a while
Now you fight the time

Come home
We have saved space for you
We are there
And the sun is here
Come home
You are misled
Don't need a reason to get through

You have fought a while
Come home now
You have fought a while
Now you fight the time

And the air you'll breathe is saved for you
And the air you'll breathe is saved for you
And the air you'll breathe is safe for you
And the air you'll breathe is just for you
