

Rocco DeLuca And The Burden, Draw

If there's violence in your heart
Then we have something in common
Whenever we're apart
I want to break
If the ocean's in our way
Then we'd better start quick-swimming
If you have something to say
Then you fking say it now

I will draw a line to you
It could be simple with the symmetry of parts
If we are disconnected
Separation is an art
I don't think i'll learn

I will draw a line to you
I will draw a line to you

It could be simple
My hand guide my pencil
My head is a mad child scribbling circles

I will draw a line to you
I will draw a line to you
I will draw a line to you
It could be simple