

Rocco DeLuca And The Burden, How Fast

Pull yourself from the room
Walk into the afternoon
Did you think you'd be immune to machines and perfume

How fast can you run
How fast can you run
How fast can you run

Crawl into another cave
All the things you tried to save
On your arm it's engraved
That the world's come apart

How fast can you run
How fast can you run
How fast can you run

How fast can you run
How fast can you run
How fast can you run

Put yourself in another place
It's an illusion that we are safe
You've got such a pretty face
That the worlds come apart

How fast can you run
How fast can you run
How fast can you run
How fast can you run
How fast can you run
How fast can you run