Rocco DeLuca And The Burden, How Fast

Pull yourself from the room Walk into the afternoon Did you think you'd be immune to machines and perfume

How fast can you run How fast can you run How fast can you run

Crawl into another cave All the things you tried to save On your arm it's engraved That the world's come apart

How fast can you run How fast can you run How fast can you run

How fast can you run How fast can you run How fast can you run

Put yourself in another place It's an illusion that we are safe You've got such a pretty face That the worlds come apart

How fast can you run How fast can you run