

Rodney Crowell, Blonde Ambition

Well she went to the store and she bought herself a bottle and she poured it all over her head
It said wait twenty but she gave it thirty minutes 'cause she wanted it as blonde as it would get
Folks at the diner said she never looked finer, they never have seen her since

She's got a blonde ambition
A blue-eyed vision
With a look that'll get you
Make you wonder what just hit you
She's a woman with a mission
She's got a blonde ambition

From a travellin' salesman to a club musician to the owner of the joint she flew
She started at the bottom worked her way to the middle now she's on her way from me to you
All I've got to say is don't get in her way she's only passing through

She's got a blonde ambition
A blue-eyed vision
With a look that'll get you
Make you wonder what just hit you
She's a woman with a mission
She's got a blonde ambition

She's got a blonde ambition
A blue-eyed vision
With a look that'll get you
Make you wonder what just hit you
She's a woman with a mission
She's got a blonde ambition

She's got a blonde ambition
A blue-eyed vision
With a look that'll get you
Make you wonder what just hit you
She's a woman with a mission
She's got a blonde ambition

She's got a blonde ambition
She's got a blonde ambition
She's got a blonde ambition, yeah
