

Roger Daltrey, Unforgettable Opera

(Gerard McMahon, Roger Daltrey)

1992 Geffen Again Music/Bac Mac Music, BMI.

Time and time again
Someone comes to take you to the Edge of something new
Why is it so hard for you to fall

I have stood alone
Watched from a distance of a
Friend who understands
One who'd always be there if you

Knew you what you are looking for
And you know it when you find it

With the key in your hand
It's time to walk a naked stage
Of glass from hot sands
Where a sound within your heart will rage
And if rocks in the head moving ever on
Life is an unforgettable opera

The time will come again
When staring in your eyes a place that
You have seen before
Always something to remind you

It's not a game of chance
Some you loose and some you just can't Win them all at once
Time will give you everything

It's a rhythm that will never stop
It's like a clock that ticks between us

And the keys in your hand
Your time to walk a naked stage
Of glass from hot sands
Where a sound within your heart will rage
And if rocks in the head moving ever on
Life is an unforgettable opera

Take the key in your hands
It's time you walked that naked stage
Of glass from hot sands
Where a sound within your heart will rage

With the key in your hand
It's time to walk a naked stage
Of glass from hot sands
Where a sound within your heart will rage
And if rocks in the head moving ever on
Life is an unforgettable opera
