

Roger Daltrey, Would A Stranger Do?

I've seen you here before
But you've never noticed me
And I've seen you crying alone
And it makes me sad to see
If you feel the way I do
Then tears won't comfort you

Would a stranger do?
Would a stranger do for you?

You want the world to let you be
But you have to realize
Don't be afraid of company
'Cause it's just a compromise
I know it's a risk we're taking
But think of the time we've been wasting
Scuse me for asking lady
I don't really mean to intrude
Forgive me for asking

Would a stranger do?
Would a stranger do for you?
Would a stranger do?

Your heart says go find someone new
But it whispers don't get hurt
Well I'd like to find somebody too
Can I take a chance on you?
I know it's a risk we're taking
But think of the time we've been wasting
Scuse me for asking lady
I don't really mean to intrude
Forgive me for asking

Would a stranger do?
Would a stranger do for you?
Would a stranger do?
Would a stranger do for you?
