

Ron Sexsmith, Clown In Broad Daylight

Standing on the side of the road near the overpass
With a sign around his neck that says
"Carwash, free balloons", he's a clown in broad daylight

He's waving at the people in cars who do a double-take
And goad him on with their horns outside the carwash like a cartoon, he's a clown in broad daylight

Raising eyebrows and emotions
He doesn't phase some people at all
For everyday the circus is open
Everything is alright
It's just a clown in broad daylight

Everything is alright
For against the backdrop of ordinary life it's the easy laugh
That gets you through your working day and the hogwash
And but true, he's a clown in broad daylight

Yeah he's waving at you
He's a clown, a clown in broad daylight
