

Ron Sexsmith, The Less I Know

The less I know
This moment seems to tell me
The less I know
The line my soul
Is trying hard to sell me
I guess I'm sold

Cause there's something real in her touch
There's something deeper in this love
That's what scares me so
Yes I know...

It's a waste of time
To analyze what every kiss unfolds
The more I try
To describe what it means
The less I know

Yet there's something within those eyes
That brings something meaningful
To my life
Once so hard and cold
Yes I know

Love can bring us back to life
Like a song I knew so well
It rings a bell inside

But there's something real in her touch
There's something deeper in this love
That's what scares me so
Yes I know...

The more I try
To describe what it means
The less I know

Yet there's something within those eyes
That brings something meaningful
To my life
Once so hard and cold
Yes I know

But there's something real in her touch
There's something deeper in this love
That's what scares me so
Yes I know...
