

Ron Sexsmith, The Less I Know

The less I know
This moment seems to tell me
The less I know
The line my soul
Is trying hard to sell me
I guess I&#039;m sold

Cause there&#039;s something real in her touch
There&#039;s something deeper in this love
That&#039;s what scares me so
Yes I know...

It&#039;s a waste of time
To analyze what every kiss unfolds
The more I try
To describe what it means
The less I know

Yet there&#039;s something within those eyes
That brings something meaningful
To my life
Once so hard and cold
Yes I know

Love can bring us back to life
Like a song I knew so well
It rings a bell inside

But there&#039;s something real in her touch
There&#039;s something deeper in this love
That&#039;s what scares me so
Yes I know...

The more I try
To describe what it means
The less I know

Yet there&#039;s something within those eyes
That brings something meaningful
To my life
Once so hard and cold
Yes I know

But there&#039;s something real in her touch
There&#039;s something deeper in this love
That&#039;s what scares me so
Yes I know...
