

Ron Sexsmith, Your Guess Is As Good As Mine

Don't ask me why
Your guess is as good as mine
We did our best my love
But our best wasn't good enough
And now you're standing here
Demanding dear
To know why love's gone behind
Well your guess is as good as mine
Don't look at me
My guess is it was not to be
For the worse it took a turn
Love's the lesson we never learn
And no it's not so strange that people change
Still you're wondering why
Well your guess is as good as mine
Your guess is as good as mine
Where did we go wrong?
Tell me where did we go wrong?
You keep skipping like a broken record
Singing that god forsaken song
Don't ask my why
Your guess is as good as mine
We did our best my love
But our best wasn't good enough
An old car's bound to stall
And empires fall
It happens all the time
Well your guess is as good as mine
Your guess is as good as mine
Well I guess your guess is
As good as mine
