

Rose Royce, Golden Touch

Golden touch

It happens every time your lips touch mine
There's a feeling that's so divine
There's magic in you

Golden touch

I wasn't very strong 'til you came along
You made me realize that by your side, boy
Is where I belong

Golden touch

There's a kind of magic in the air
Whenever you are near
I get butterflies every time your eyes meet mine

You opened up so many doors
And I was so very, very insecure
You made me see the light
You made my life sunny and bright
And you, you, I worship and adore you

Golden touch

Tell me do you ever wonder
How the stars got in my eyes
Well, you put them there, ooh, yeah

And golden touch

Do you know the power you possess
You're the key to my happiness
I must confess you're simply magic

Touch me

Touch me

It feels so good when you touch me
Please touch me
So please touch me
