Roxette, One Is Such A Lonely Number

I never knew when you walked in the room. I sold my soul to a stranger, an angel face yea. I never had this kind of sight before, this kind of vision white, hang on tight yea. I don't know, girl, you've been around. Don't you go, don't you let me down.

One is such a lonely number, to make the world go round. Three is just a little too much to touch, now honey To make the world go round and round and round. One is such a lonely number.

I think about what this has done to me. I'm going back to the start, back to school days. I never had this urge inside of me, to hear the sound of a heart fill the airwaves. There's a love line, it's tied to the ground. Leave you here, never let you down.

One is such a lonely number, to make the world go round. Three is just a little too much to touch, now honey To make the world go round and round and round. One is such a lonely number, to mend a broken heart. Three is just a little too much to touch, hey honey To make the world go round and round and round.

There's a love line, it's tied to the ground. Leave you here, never let you down. One is such a lonely number, to make the world go round. Three is just a little too much to touch, now honey To make the world go round and round and round. One is such a lonely number, to mend a broken heart. Three is just a little too much to touch, hey honey To make the world go round and round and round.

One is such a lonely number, to make the world go round...
