

Royal Blood, Honeybrains

Every day, walk the line like I'm walking on a wire
Taking my time but my blood is on fire
Down to the marrow, from a shudder to a shockwave
Holding my ground, looking for a new escape

When I am choking
Distorted and broken
Crawling out the same ditch
Looking for the off switch

Guess I better quit and find another way
Before I get stuck in my honeybrains
Caught up in the shadow of the vicious cycle
Shaking off the same old headaches

Dodging cracks in the ice
Getting thinner by the hour
Down on the ropes and my blood is on fire
There's no rock bottom, rock bottom
It's just a matter of when you're gonna give up digging
Not drowning, not drowning
Just tryna keep my head up above

When I am choking
Distorted and broken
Crawling out the same ditch
Looking for the off switch

Guess I better quit and find another way
Before I get stuck in my honeybrains
Caught up in the shadow of the vicious cycle
Shaking off the same old headaches

Guess I better quit and find another way
Before I get stuck in my honeybrains
Caught up in the shadow of the vicious cycle
Shaking off the same old headaches

I might be shackled to the wrist of a stone-cold saboteur (Hey)
But it's bound so they miss
Wish I could shoot the messenger

When I am choking
Distorted and broken
Crawling out the same ditch
Looking for the off switch

Guess I better quit and find another way
Before I get stuck in my honeybrains
Caught up in the shadow of the vicious cycle
Shaking off the same old headaches

When I am choking
Distorted and broken
Crawling out the same ditch
Looking for the off switch

Guess I better quit and find another way
Before I get stuck in my honeybrains