

Ruff Michael, Be So Shy

time goes by like running water still you've got nothing to say watching you must be my calling
still you've got nothing to say I could fade like desert flowers
still you've got nothing to say my love grows with every hour
still you've got nothing to say
why must you be so shy
be so shy
why must you be so shy
be so shy
in your eyes a storm is brewing
still you've got nothing to say think of things we could be doing
still you've got nothing to say life's too short for poker faces
still you've got nothing to say we could take love higher places baby I've got something to say
why must you be so shy
be so shy
why must you be so shy
be so shy
why must you, why must you
why must you be so shy
something's different don't deny it
still you've got nothing to say could it be I saw you smiling
still you've got nothing to say maybe words aren't necessary
still you've got nothing to say play the tune your body carries baby you've got something to say
why must you be so shy
