Runrig, The Greatest Flame

Like shadows on the wall You come and you go Through the streets And the rain that falls down On our sin No more good-byes Forever this way Whenever the greatest flame in the world Starts burning

This is our life, and our time And nothing, is ever going to break us Now we're on our own

Always in your eyes
A waking of souls
We gaze out on the road
That brought us up
To this place
The signposts never change
We'll go where they lead
Whenever the day to break us comes
We'll not give in

This is our life, and our time
And nothing, is ever going to break us
Now we're on our own
This is our place, in our lives
And no one can ever change this moment
Or pull this mountain to the ground

Live the day when the flame is strong Live the day when the flame is strong Come the day when love is gone Take it over, Take it over

Live the day when the flame is strong Live the day when the flame is strong Come the day when love is gone Take it over

This is our life, and our time
And nothing, is ever going to break us
Now we're on our own
This is our place, in our lives
And no one can ever change this moment
Or pull this mountain to the ground