

Rushlow, God Only Knows

There's a lot of people laughing and smiling
There's a lot of people hurting and crying
It doesn't matter which one you are
You won't get far before you feel them both
It doesn't matter if tears of pain or tears of joy
Are what you feel the most
I only know the sun shines through
It always does, it always has to
There's a lot of questions that we'd love to ask
If we get the chance to

God only knows who is gonna live
Who is gonna take and who is gonna give
Which one is gonna fly like an eagle in the sky
Which one is gonna fall, becoming heroes to us all
Who grows old, who dies young
God only knows

Life is what we make it, so take it and live it well
Don't worry about tomorrow, let tomorrow worry about itself
And tell the ones that you love so
To take it slow 'cause time goes by so fast
Cherish every second here
Live every day like it might be your last, 'cause

God only knows who is gonna live
Who is gonna take and who is gonna give
Which one is gonna fly like an eagle in the sky
Which one is gonna fall, becoming heroes to us all
Who grows old, who dies young
God only knows

God only knows who is gonna live
Who is gonna take and who is gonna give
Which one is gonna fly like an eagle in the sky
Which one is gonna fall, becoming heroes to us all
Who grows old, who dies young

Who's to say what's to come
God only knows, God only knows