

Ryan Shupe & The RubberBand, Snow

it was just snow soft and white it was just snow falling so light
falling so light,
falling last night

no it wasn't a lightning storm ripping leaves and the limbs off of trees and it wasn't a massive earthquake the earth buckling from beneath because he wasn't quite that sad and he wasn't quite that mad but his messenger died yesterday and he wanted us to know

so it was just snow soft and white
falling so light,

no it wasn't a giant tidal wave drowning every man woman and child and it wasn't a huge hurricane wind and rain whipping round us so wild

falling so light,
