

Rykers, Below Zero

below zero
i should have tried
but it was no use
i am one of the lonely
no one speaks to me i am me... myself... the one and only i looked the door and threw away the key trapped in a room full of nothing where it's getting hard to breathe confronted with my anger i seeked harmony
but i'm starring in disbelief
... staring
maybe it's just me
maybe i'm the one to blame but since it happened
i never felt the same
you said something you better shouldn't have said you should have looked in my face instead
reject... respect
reject... respect
i can't remember
the last time i have cried
but it hurts to see you gave me up before you've even tried i should have swallowed
i should have spit
i should have thrown it up
but i choked on it
reject... respect
reject... respect
i can't remember
the last time i have cried
but it hurts to see you gave me up
before you've even tried
i should have swallowed
i should have spit
i should have thrown it up
but i choked on it!
below zero!