Sabaton, Wolfpack

To their own shore came the world war Gleaves and the Ingham leading the Bury west

Took the short way in the long route back convoy 92 Bury Gleaves and Ingham leading tankers to the west and upon the north atlantic lies the silence of the seas on a quiest night in the darkest hour the kriegsmarine appear

Above the surface it seems quiet and calm Deep down below the wolfpack lurks

To their own shore came the world war Gleaves and the Ingham leading the Bury west in their own track came the wolfpack Gleaves led the convoy into the hornets nest

At the crack of dawn the second day Bury stands in flames half the convoy sunk or disabled heading back to shore but below the north atlantic on the bottom of the sea on the second night in the darkest hour the kriegsmarine returns

The wolfpack surface for a second time to make the convoy face it's fate

To their own shore came the world war Gleaves and the Ingham leading the Bury west in their own track came the wolfpack Gleaves led the convoy into the hornets nest

Under fire under water may 42' when Bury did fail the test to their own shore came the world war Gleaves and the Ingham leading them into death

569 makes the contact and lead them U-94 scores a kill in the dark 124 sinking 4 in 2 approaches 406 suffers failure on launch