Sacramentum, Far Away From The Sun, Part 2

In a land of clouded dreams I travel, riding winds over ancient paths.
Soft melancholy voices whisper over places where no one ever laughed.
Cold icewinds sweeps my weightless body over the bridge to unknown lands.
The fog was think before me,
As I felt in to the unknown realms the darkness had fallen before me, as I saw my body fall into the ground I am far away, I am far away from the sun...