

Sadist, 'fools' And Dolts

These white jail walls know everything about me
They already saw my breath changing it's mood many times

My friends and I - 'fools' and dolts
We keep on living our own thoughts
Trying to fly within some other minds
Where resignation builds up another life

I'd like to see some other way
I'd love to cry out of joy
If only I could make them know
All the things that I'm doing

Here the 'fools' come with that strange sense of love
Hands and feet are standing up
Sometimes we're in - sometimes we're not

How many tears - how many miles
Some of my friends are flying
One of them already found his own highest cloud

I'd like to see some other way
I'd love to cry out of joy
If only I could make them know
All the things that I'm doing

I'd like to see some other way
I'd love to cry out of joy
If only I could make them know
All the things that I'm doing
