

Saga, Lifeline

Often I ask myself
How something that Ive never done can feel so familiar
Its just like the last time!
Some call it dj vu
But I prefer to think of it as more than illusion
Just like the last time, for the first time.

You need a lifeline
Were talking about your life line.

So if Ive been here before
Youre telling me that whats in store has all been decided
For the last time
And if what they say is true
Then everything Ive learned till now has been so misguided
Like the first time, the last time.

When all is said and done
We all become exactly what were meant to be
Just look at you and me.
When all is said and done
Stare at the sun, then tell me what you really see
Youll know what I mean.

You need a lifeline
Were talking about your life line.

When all is said and done
We all become exactly what were meant to be
Just look at you and me.
When all is said and done
Stare at the sun, then tell me what you really see
Youll know what I mean.

You need a lifeline
Were talking about your life line.
You need a lifeline
Were talking about your life line.
