

Salamandra, Defence

We raise the flags and voices we curse kings for their choices we call for freedom, call to fight

You don't know how strong we are we hold our banners so high there's a chance to give it one last try

Red is the colour of rage and defence it is better than the grey we shall march in haste, not in silence we'll take our homeland back

Every day, every night
we will rise, we will fight it is clear which side we're on Angry minds will lead us break all walls, break all laws set up free world of new rules

Red is the colour of rage and defence
it is better than the grey
we shall march in haste, not in silence
we'll take our homeland back

Every day, every night
we will rise, we will fight
it is clear which side we're on
Angry minds will lead us
break all walls, break all laws
set up free world of new rules

Red is the colour of rage and defence
it is better than the grey
we shall march in haste, not in silence
we'll take our homeland back

Every day, every night
we will rise, we will fight
it is clear which side we're on
Angry minds will lead us
break all walls, break all laws
set up free world of new rules