

Sam Phillips, Black And White In A Grey World

No distinction, no emotion for right or wrong
They tell me any choice will do
No color contrast in their dull morality
The shades of good and bad are through

Situational lies, situational hate
Situational adultery
They mix the black and white so casually
Their ethics seem so vague to me

(Chorus)
And I'm black and white in a grey world
Black and white in a grey world
Black and white in a grey world

It's not so easy finding answers in the shade
It takes some patience, takes some grit
But it's better than throwing all your colors in the street.
What's life without color in it.

(Bridge)
Ooh, I feel so out of place
Like I've landed on the moon
You can see it in my face
I don't mind being different
Cuz I'm different for the truth

(Repeat 1st Verse)

(Repeat Chorus)
