

Sambora Richie, You're Not Alone (R.Sambora &

You can be a million miles away, I will always love you.
You can be a thousand thought always, I'll be thinking of you.
No matter where you try to hide,
You will always gonna find me.
Right where I belong,
Been here beside you all along.
Like some ancient star, forever we'll remain.
Even if the sky should fall from grace,
If I die or fade away.
In the end you'll always know,
You're not alone.
You can change your face to someone else,
Still I won't forget you.
When you're feeling lost inside yourself,
I will come and get you.
These days the only saviour you can find,
Is something you believe in.
Deep inside your heart,
You might believe in me.
Like some ancient star, forever we'll remain.
Even if our love would ever fall from grace,
If I die or fade away,
In your life you'll always know.
I know you got your fears and doubts,
They're weighing on your mind.
But something's gonna save you,
You're gonna see the truth inside.
I'll be right beside you,
When the world tears you apart.
On your back like a shadow,
No matter where you are.
Like some ancient star, forever we'll remain.
Even if the sky should fall from grace,
If I die or fade away.
In the end you'll always know,
You're not alone, you're not alone.
