

Samiam, Super Brava

through the street lights and forfeited lanes with a trunk full of everything that we could get there is a place that safe for those who know no better that where we keep our hideout hidden wee travelling destinationless with an open ticket for a one way trip free of any expectations and careless while they crack that whip if the sun won come up tomorrow this is where i want to be no way of knowing how much time you have borrowed i try to keep mine free

wee travelling destinationless
with an open ticket for a one way trip
free of any expectations
and careless while they crack that whip

what would you decide when ignorance can be such bliss

you see a car full of zeros destined to die unsatisfied i don need to know where we going i can still enjoy the ride

wee travelling destinationless
with an open ticket for a one way trip
free of any expectations
and careless while they crack that whip

what would you decide
when ignorance can be such bliss