

Sandi Patti, So Far

So Far, its been so good So far through all the joys and scars, you've won the battles in my heart, I long for what, you have in store another opened door, should I stay here or look for more.

So far, you've brought me,
So far you've taught me So far, that everything I need you are,
and now, another turn to take, another choice to make,
I can't believe we've come,
So Far.

You say, the fight has just begun and yet the battles won,
by trusting in your holy son, you know , the plans you have for me, I'm trying to believe,
but my eyes can only see so far.