

Sandy Denny, Never Ending

Anyone here know who goes forward who can stay
Did you miss your call
You were having such a ball
You never noticed me at all

Daily thinking can always bring me down
Back to the ground
You were making quite a sound
You never looked at what I'd found

Messages were passed along the line down to the end,

From hand to hand
You were hard to understand
You never saw what I had planned

I must admit my life has only just begun to take it's toll,
And it isn't very old
I never saw you as a soul
As I watched you losing hold
I was getting too involved
I never thought it could be told
