Sarah Brightman, Beautiful

If you can depend On certainty Count it out and weigh it up again You can be sure You've reached the end And still you don't feel

Do you know you're beautiful Do you know you're beautiful Do you know you're beautiful You are, yes you are, yes you are

If you can ignore What you've become Take it out and see it die again You can be here For who's a friend And still you don't feel

Do you know you're beautiful Do you know you're beautiful Do you know you're beautiful You are, yes you are, yes you are

Innermost thoughts Will be understood and You can have all you need

Do you know, you're beautiful, do you know about anything Do you know, you're beautiful, do you know about anyone Do you know you're beautiful You are, yes you are, yes you are
