

Sarah Brightman, Pay No Mind

I used to believe in something I thought it was me and you that we could fulfill a lifetime and live as lovers do I was wrong

I'll pay no mind
I'm leaving it all behind
I won't ask you what you feel no more
I won't ask you what you feel no more
I'll just pay no mind
I'm letting it go this time
'cause I realize I've come so far
if I start to wonder where you are
I'll just pay no mind

The first couple steps were fragile till I got on my feet felt I was walking sideways looking for my release lovers come and they go
when they leave you'll all ever know

when they leave
you'll all ever know
instead of a review tell you what I'll do

I'll pay no mind
I'm leaving it all behind
I won't ask you what you feel no more
I won't ask you what you feel no more
I'll just pay no mind
I'm letting it go this time
'cause I realize I've come so far
if I start to wonder where you are
I'll just pay no mind

I'm still writing love songs
'bout something that's passed me by I know that I'm stronger you think that's a lie but you're wrong

I'll pay no mind
I'm leaving it all behind
I won't ask you what you feel no more
I won't ask you what you feel no more
I'll just pay no mind
I'm letting it go this time
