Sarah Brightman, There Is More To Love

There is more to love, So much more, Than simply making love --That's easy.

Gazing into eyes, Pretty eyes, Which could be any eyes --That's crazy.

Hands are just hands, A face is just a face ... They come and go --They're easy to replace ...

There is more to love, So much more, Than moon-struck escapades --That's nothing.

There is peace of mind, So much peace, In quiet company --That's something.

Everyone but him Seems wrong for me ... Every time I feel There has to be More ...

If I could hear The music I heard then, I'd never let It fade away again ...

There is more to love, So much more, Than simply making love --That's easy.

Gazing into eyes, Pretty eyes, Which could be any eyes --That's crazy.

Now each time Love reaches out to me, I can only feel There has to be So much more To love ...