

Sarah Connor, Not So Silent Night

Five in the morning
All so peaceful and cold
You could hear a pin falling
It's beginning to dawn
Twenty-fourth of December
Once again, it is time
For a not so silent, not so silent night

Ooh, kids crashin' down the stairs
Dogs barkin' everywhere
Sister yelling on the phone
Bublé on the radio
Neighbours knockin' on the door
Food burnin' on the stove
Baby never wants to sleep
And a bird flew in the tree

Everybody scream, everybody shout
Ain't this what it's all about?

It's alright, it's alright
Oh, 'cause it's a not so silent night
It's alright (Yeah), it's alright
Oh, 'cause it's a not so silent, not so silent night

Kids complainin' Santa's late
Brother stuck on the train
And Mariah still insists
I'm her only Christmas wish
Grandpa in his underwear
Snorin' in his rocking chair
Mother's twenty-second callin'
"Who's the stranger in the hall?"

Everybody scream, everybody shout
Guess that's what it's all about?

It's alright, it's alright
Oh, 'cause it's a not so silent night
It's alright (Yeah), it's alright
Oh, 'cause it's a not so silent, not so silent night

Not so silent night

Finally, kids in bed
Now, friends naggin' me instead
Askin' me to come and join
God, I'm gonna lose my mind
Dressin' up, black and pink
I just need one more drink (Ahh fuck, see you later in the club)

It's alright, it's alright
Oh, 'cause it's a not so silent night
It's alright, yeah, it's alright
Oh, 'cause it's a not so silent, not so silent night
