

Sarah Masen, Silence

Your silence scares me
Brings me to my knees
And I see now how much I need You here
Speechless awaiting for the perfect time to show me
What my eyes, my eyes can not see now
And I'm crying more than trusting
That You hold everything in Your strong hands

Oh, cause in my heart I just can't understand
Bizarre silent times oh I wait for a plan
We've danced around this tree before
But every time we stop oh, the awkward silence brings me to the floor

My mind begins to wander from all that You've said
I begin to try my despair
About that time You pulled me out to show me what was really there
And the music starts again
And I'm learning how to trust You
I follow in Your shadow's cast until I stop again

Oh, cause in my heart I just can't understand
Bizarre silent times oh, I wait for a plan
We've danced around this tree before
But everytime we stop oh, the awkward silence brings me to the floor

And I'm learning how to trust You
I follow in your shadow's dance until I stop again

Oh, cause in my heart I just can't understand
Bizarre silent times oh, I wait for a plan
We danced around this tree before
But everytime we stop oh, the awkward silence brings me to the floor
