

Satanic Surfers, One Kid's Defiance

I'd rather be pathetic at the age of 45 than sell out my ideals to live a fucking lie

I'd trade my freedom for a false sense of security, working for death, digging my own grave but as I

[x2] (If I didn't give up then)

Why should I give up now?

(I'm gonna live my life)

To it's fullest potential [x2]

Cause resistance, resistance, resistance has no age

One kid's defiance just might make the difference

They say it's just a faze, a youthful rebellion and soon enough we'll grow out of it

Trade our freedom for a false sense of security, working for death, digging our own graves but as I