

Satanic Surfers, Weight On My Shoulders

I know you worked hard all your life to give me everything I needed but how much longer must I apologize
'cause you feel cheated and defeated I never asked you to sacrifice all your dreams and your entire life I never questioned your ability to be a provider for us, your family So please don't throw your bitterness in my face Don't make me carry this weight on my shoulders All I needed was a little attention and all I wanted from you was your affection Please don't keep pushing me...away
I never criticized the decisions you made the way you criticized mine Those words hurt more than you will ever know but the wounds will heal in time I never asked of you to sacrifice all your dreams and your entire life
I never questioned your ability to be a provider for us, your family
