

Schaeffer, Try To Be

Those shoes that you wore and that shirt from the thrift store dont make you anymore
Cause this scenes so dead and all of these people seem to looking, searching, begging for more
So dont try to be, try to be something youre not
Or youll turn out just like the rest in this lot
And theyll never come back, never come back for you
And uniqueness is bred where love is evident and love surrounds
And perfect design always screams of something moreand we scream for more
So dont try to be, try to be something youre not
Or youll turn out just like the rest in this lot
And theyll never come back, never come back for you
