Secret Machines, Now Here Is Nowhere

Aging eyesore
nearly nowhere
found
unearthed a moment burst with all of us
reflected dust in the almost high almost high
as morning light blared
over gloss white
burned out daylight
plain and just as I turned it thrust its softly warm
the newly born in the hardly there hardly there

who rests in dust who moves in her eyes erased eyes erased eyes eyes eyes pull in nowhere breathe last don't you see all this time all this space all these words