Secret Machines, The Road Leads Where It's Lea

Cultivating sounds for all the mothers who come near to find out Calling pulse bombs, a response with cotton in their ears And goodbye kisses for the ones in the ground Collecting fallout from the blast

The road leads where it's led And all the darlings cover earth with bare hands They're blowing all the other kids away

Angels stole the show The roaring seraph, singing thunder Called the mother's children home

Blowing all the other kids away Blowing all the other kids away

We communicate by semaphore No language, we're got flags of our own

The road leads where it's led And all the darlings cover earth with their hands They're blowing all the other kids away They're blowing all the other kids away

Angels stole the show The roaring seraph, singing thunder Called the mother's children home

Blowing all the other kids away
Blowing all the other kids away
Blowing all the other kids away, we won't be fooled
Blowing all the other kids away, and all the young child
Blowing all the other kids away
Blowing all the other kids away
Blowing all the other kids away

We won't be moved
We can see right through
All of your charms
Your clever disguise
Uncertainty fails
As heaven surrounds you